Serving members of the Oregon, Washington State and Alaska Societies of American Foresters

2023 Advertising Rate Card

The Western Forester is an official publication of the Oregon, Washington State, and Alaska State Societies of American Foresters and is produced by the SAF Northwest Office on behalf of those three state societies.

The Western Forester promotes a timely exchange of quality resource management information among foresters, resource managers, and those in related disciplines. Each issue focuses on a specific theme and includes articles on current and emerging forestry issues, new techniques, philosophies, and equipment pertinent to forestry, ongoing research and findings, and other items of interest to resource managers.

Circulation

The Western Forester was established in 1955 and is published four times per year. The Western Forester serves 1,800 SAF members in Oregon, Washington, and Alaska. It is also distributed to forestry leaders throughout the United States.

The Western Forester is also available for free download in a PDF file on the Northwest SAF website at <https://forestry.org/western-forester/>.

Advertising

Advertising in the Western Forester reaches professional foresters and resource managers, including those in private industry, government and NGOs, consulting, academics, many of whom are responsible for purchasing equipment, supplies, and services. SAF members are responsible for managing the resources of forestland, including timber appraisal and sale, logging, manufacturing, forest engineering and construction, forest protection, reforestation, fish and wildlife management, recreation, inventory, forestry education and extension, and GIS.
